City Takes Steps to Meet the Challenge Of a $500,000 Shortfall in Revenue

by Mary Lou Williamson

The City of Greenbelt faces a shortfall in revenues for the current fiscal year of about $500,000. In an hour-long interview with City Manager James K. Giese, the News Review sought information on the causes of the problem and what is being done to meet the challenge.

In November, Giese said, revenue collections were ahead of last year's. But the city's accountant had already alerted Giese that tax bills were lower than expected. As reports of financial problems for other governments began to increase in area newspapers, the city began to respond.

Revenues

About 60 percent of the city's revenues come from taxes that are based on the value of real property and, in the case of businesses, personal property. This is the only area in which the city can determine what it will collect from taxpayers—by raising or lowering the tax rate.

The largest portion of the shortfall, said Giese, comes from the city over-estimating the property tax by $300,000. The state of Maryland provides certified quarterly figures on the assessed valuation of property. The city used those figures and anticipated an increase to reflect the second of a three-year phase-in of higher values, the same method they had used last year. Last year, said Giese, there was a large increase, this year there was none. He is analyzing the discrepancy. The largest increase this year, he said, came in the apartment category. Both Springhill Lake and University Square Apartments have been remodeling. New office facilities have brought some increase in commercial property. "Single family homes," he said, "are flat." He thinks some new houses have been reassessed at a lower value. He did some spot checking. Overall real estate values here are still up, he said.

Corporate Personal Property

While there should be a good increase in the tax on property owned by businesses in Greenbelt, Giese said the increase is not coming through. Assessments come from the State Assessor's office during the year. Giese has tried to spot check, but says it is hard to know just what a company owns and where it is. At over $1 million, the tax represents 20 percent of the revenue the city collects from the property tax.

Of serious concern to Greenbelt would be the Linowes Commission recommendation to drop the personal property tax at the municipal level. In a lot of cities and towns, Giese said, this tax is not significant. In Greenbelt, it is.

Other Revenues

Other governments, primarily the State, provide the other 40 percent of the city's revenues. Giese is not yet certain whether this year's return on the state income tax will equal last year's. He is hopeful that the poor economy may not have affected the jobs of Greenbelters as much as it has in some other communities.

The Admissions and Amusements tax is ahead of last year, but "we still project we've over-estimated for the year," said Giese.

One cut is definite. The state will reduce its grant to municipalities for police protection by five percent. Giese said the city will receive the full Youth Services Bureau grant for Greenbelt CARES.

All funds expected for this year from Prince Georges County have already been paid with one exception, the landfill rebate.

Surplus funds not spent from prior years provides some cushion. Giese expects to need $100,000 to $200,000 from that source to balance this year's expenditures.

Expenditures

The city's department heads estimate that together they can hold down expenditures to about $600,000 below budgeted expenditures. Giese thinks they are optimistic. For example, he said, each year the city expects to save money paid out in salaries in the Public Works Department through normal turnover in personnel. This year no employee has left. Giese admits he ran some figures on those salaries, which he thought might be too low, and they checked out. The department has stringently cut back on overtime, he said. This winter's light snows have been a help, since overtime has not been needed, he noted.

A new part-time position has not been filled and a temporary employee has been let go. The seasonal parks crew, normally hired in mid-spring, may not be hired this fiscal year.

Giese said he has pretty well placed a hiring freeze throughout the city government. The new position in the Finance Department is unfilled. The Recreation Department is short one coordinator. Two half-time positions planned for the Planning and Development Office are on hold, but partly, Giese noted, because the new office space on the first floor of the Municipal Building is still being remodelled. Street permit fees will help fund one of those positions.

In the Police Department, the three new positions in the bud-

Lakeside North Apartments Initiate Recycling Program

More than one and one-half years before Prince Georges County will require it, one of the largest apartment management firms in the area has implemented a recycling program for one of its apartment complexes. On February 1, Lakeside North Apartments, 430 Ridge Road, started recycling its aluminum and tin cans, glass, plastic bottles and newspapers.

Southern Management Company put the program in place at the request of the apartment complex's recycling committee. The committee surveyed the attitudes of the community, did an analysis of their garbage, collected bids from several haulers, and then proposed the recycling plan to Southern Management.

According to county regulations, all apartment building owners are required to provide the opportunity to recycle to their renters by July 1, 1992. Additionally, all apartment complexes with 100 apartments or more are required to submit a recycling plan to the Prince Georges County Office of Recycling by July 1, 1991.

"From the management standpoint, it just makes more sense to start the recycling programs now, rather than to wait for the county deadline," said Bonita H. Queen, property manager for Southern Management. The Lakeside North proposal was the first to be received by the Office of Recycling.

"It's great to see that some apartments are starting to recycle before the county deadline," said Jennifer Hyde, multifamily recycling program coordinator for the County Office of Recycling. "Their forethought will help relieve the last minute crunch of plan submissions, and ensure that any grant requests can be met."

Eligible apartment owners can receive grants from the county of varying amounts depending on the size of the complex. These are intended to offset capital expenses from their recycling programs on such items as recycling containers.

"We care about the environment. We wanted recycling in our apartments," said Theresa Curran, the Lakeside North resident who organized the first recycling committee meeting. The committee's survey showed that 95 percent of the apartment residents would recycle if there was a program.

Council and Citizens Discuss Preliminary Lake Park Plans

by Betsy Likowski

Keep the "Buddy" Attick Lake Park natural was the main theme of discussion at a planning session on the lake park. On Monday, February 4 city consultants from Greenhorne & O'Mara showed two possible plans of the park; and citizens, city staff and city council discussed the plans and what they would like to see in the park. Discussion covered most existing features in the park including the concession stand, silt basins and picnic areas. Two new facilities were suggested for the park, a wildlife preserve and an island.

The Plans

These two plans were based on city and citizen produced plans on the park and comments and questionnaires from the October 2 planning session. The consultants expect to be back in the near future.

At the meeting on February 4, the consultants presented two plans of the lake park. Neither suggested major changes in the park. Both plans emphasized having the park be natural and left the wooded areas in the park as they are. Both plans also suggest removing from the park the playground and basketball court, building public restrooms and landscaping the peninsula. Prohibiting bikes in the park is also suggested.

One plan calls for removal of the concession stand and the amphitheatre. Details on the plans were given in an article in last week's News Review.

Boats and Concession

The theme underlying the night's discussion was "keep it natural." As Mayor Gil Weidenfeld said, there is "a general consensus on keeping the lake park in its natural environment for family use, but there are a lot of differences of opinion on other issues." Lakeside Drive resident James Drake said, "the value of the lake park is not the basketball court or amphitheatre, the value of the lake park is the lake and the vegetation around it."

The biggest controversy of the evening was whether to remove the concession stand and boat-house. There were complaints about the unsightliness of the building and the boats. Hugh Jascourt of Maplewood Court complained that the boats parked in the middle of the lake were unsightly and so "ruin the whole atmosphere" of the lake. George Loutsch of Maplewood Court said he felt the concession stand was all right but that the boats should go. He complained about the shouting and ramming by some boaters causing a nuisance.

New concession stand owners James and Julie Greer, who had signed a lease with the city, contended the stand should stay in the park.

Loutsch complained that there should have been a public hearing before the new contract was signed. Weidenfeld replied that there was a public hearing. And council member Antoinette Bram pointed out that Bowman had a right to sell his business so he would have some money for his retirement.

The stand has been there for years, Weidenfeld said, and there have been benefits from having it there, such as having a phone in the park if needed.

Council member Joseph Isaacs said he used the boats and was glad they were there.

Drake said he was against the stand because it creates environmental damage where it is. Maybe it could be backed up in trees out of sight or on level terrain, he suggested. Werner Neupert, of Lakeside Drive, also suggested that the stand does not have to be right on the shore.

City Manager James Giese explained about the eroded area near the boathouse, "That area, besides human traffic, gets a lot of bird traffic."

Julie Greer pointed out that while she and her husband were working on the stand, but it was not open to the public, they observed that area to be the most congested on the lake shore. Many people came there to feed the birds, look at the lake and launch their own boats, she said.

Silt Basins

A couple of people mentioned concerns that the silt basins be routinely maintained and not allowed to fill up as they have in the past.

Giese explained that they were in the Lake Park before they were in use in most places and were not well designed, so they quickly filled up. Then environmental awareness increased and there were all kinds of regulations to deal with when cleaning out the silt basins. So eventually, he said the city hired consultants and they redesigned the silt basins. He said the silt basins should be cleaned out periodically, about every five years.

Giese noted that the city staff opposes the consultant's idea of See LAKE PARK, page 3, col. 1

GREENBELT GETS BUDGET AWARD

The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada has awarded Greenbelt its Distinguished Budget Presentation Award. To receive the award, a city's budget document must be rated "proficient" as a policy document, a financial plan, an operations guide and a communication device.

The Government Finance Officers Association is a nonprofit professional association serving 9,500 government finance professionals throughout North America.

LEARN ABOUT AYURVEDA

A free public lecture on "Creating Perfect Health through Ayurveda and the TM Program" will be held Wednesday, February 27 at noon and 7:30 p.m. in the Greenbelt Library. This lecture will be given by Greenbelt residents Mark and Pauline Stickels, TM teachers and students of Ayurveda.

The lecture will introduce the basic principles of Ayurveda as presented by Dr. Deepak Chopra in his best-selling book "Perfect Health". The knowledge of Ayurveda and Transcendental Meditation (TM) are over 5000 years old. Ayurveda Medicine is a holistic approach to healing. It treats the underlying cause of disease and not just the symptoms. It seeks to harmonize mind, body, and environment.

This lecture will be the first in a series of lectures on the broad subject of Perfect Health. For more information on TM, Ayurveda, or the library lecture call Mark and Pauline Stickels at 301-441-9398 or Nancy Morenus at 301-585-6857.

Tax Assistance for Seniors

Volunteers, trained by the IRS, are providing free tax assistance to senior citizens at the Greenbelt library. Help is by appointment only on Mondays and Thursdays 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

When visiting, bring the 1990 federal tax package received in the mail, all wage and earnings statements (Forms W-2) from employers, all interest and dividend statements (Forms 1099), a copy of last year's federal tax return, if available, the social security number of any dependent age two or older, and any other relevant information concerning income and expenses.

Volunteers are members of professional organizations, college students, law and accounting students, homemakers and members of volunteer, community, and retiree organizations.

To make an appointment call 284-6604/6605.

Girl Scouts Celebrate "Thinking Day" Sat.

Local Girl Scout Troops from Greenbelt, College Park, Berwyn Heights and University Park will gather for a "Thinking Day" celebration on Saturday, February 23, from 10 a.m. to noon, at College Park Methodist Church on Rhode Island Avenue.

Thinking Day is a traditional Girl Scout event in which Scouts remember Girl Scouts and Girl Scout Guides around the globe. In addition to performing native dances, songs and skits from many different lands, the local Girl Scouts will remember American military troops in the Middle East by collecting items for "care packages." The girls will also create a banner to send along to the millions of men and women serving the U.S. in the Gulf. At the end of the program, Girl Scouts—from the Daisy (age 5) to Senior (high school) level—will sample foods from around the world.

DESERT STORM THERAPY

An Operation Desert Storm family support group meets every Wednesday from 5 to 6 p.m. in the board room of Greater Laurel Beltsville Hospital.

The purpose of the group is to provide a supportive environment for families (including children) and friends of service men and women involved in Operation Desert Storm. The group focuses on the immediate issues relating to separation from family and friends and provides the opportunity for people to make connections with others in similar situations. The meetings will also provide an opportunity for attendees to express their feelings, both visually and verbally. Art materials will be supplied for those wishing to visually express themselves.

The group is led by Susan VanGieson, M.A., A.T.R.

She has been an art therapist at the Greater Laurel Beltsville Hospital for eight years. She is certified by the American Art Therapy Association and is known throughout the community as a dynamic group leader.

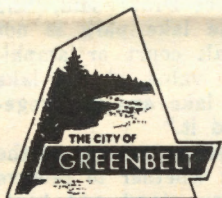

For additional information, please call (301) 497-7980.

GREENBELT GREENS MEET

The Greenbelt Greens will meet on Monday, February 25 at 7-9 p.m. in the Greenbelt library. Recycling, environmental, and peace issues will be discussed. The new coordinating committee will also be discussed. This month's guest speakers are planning Earth Day 1991 in Washington, D.C. For further information call Bob at 474-1998.

ERHS Receives State Award for Excellence

Eleanor Roosevelt High School (ERHS) has been nominated by the Maryland State Department of Education as one of eight schools to represent the State in the highly competitive national secondary school recognition program that honors the top secondary school in America.

Dr. Gerald Boarman, principal and Joy Pohl, English teacher, accepted 1990-91 Award of Excellence certificate at ceremonies held at the Maryland State Department of Education on Wednesday, January 30.

ERHS was selected on the basis of its comprehensive science and technology programs, high academic expectations, good school climate, and parent involvement.

The nomination of ERHS will now be reviewed by a panel of educators selected from across the country by the U. S. Department of Education, which sponsors the national competition. Winners of the national award will be announced in May.

Four Prince Georges County public schools have received the national awards in the last three years. Columbia Park Elementary won in 1988, Suitland High School and Kenmoor Middle School both won in 1989 and Heather Hills Elementary won in 1990. Concord Elementary School was named a State finalist in 1988.

Initiated in 1982 as a United States Department of Education Blue Ribbon Schools Project, the program invites 50 states to submit an allotted number of proposals in competition for national recognition.

All school systems are invited to participate in the competition which alternates each year between elementary and secondary schools.

EXPLORE WATER SUPPLY

On Friday, March 1, Public Relations Specialist Colleen Dooley from the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission (WSSC) will be the guest speaker at "Explorations Unlimited." Dooley will show slides, giving a general overview of WSSC and its history, and describing how Greenbelt's water is supplied from the river to the faucet.

The presentation will begin at 1 p.m. in the Youth Center multipurpose room. "Explorations Unlimited" is held every Friday, is free, and is open to the public. For more information, call 474-6878.

Seeking Eager Gardeners

Vegetable gardeners and flower gardeners are invited to join the Greenbelt Garden Club and use one of the 50 foot by 50 foot plots this year. Come to the annual meeting on Thursday, March 7 in the Greenbelt library at 7 p.m. and be assigned a plot. There is a small fee to cover the cost of plowing. All are welcome! For more information call Betsy at 474-8483 in the evenings.

LAKE PARK PLANS fr. p. 1

placing the restrooms near the public works building. They should be where the portable toilets are or at the east end of the parking lot.

Picnic Tables

People touched on many of the features in the lake park during the meeting. Jascourt talked several times about the picnic tables, saying he wanted to confine them to where they are presently located. He continued by saying that the biggest problem with outsiders coming into the park was with the group picnic areas. Additional group picnic areas are needed in the other parts of the city with a sign at the entrance of the lake park showing where they are.

Giese said the tables are permanently fixed in the park. The city will have to buy more tables because the movable tables are used by the city at the Labor Day festival and neighborhood picnics.

Addressing the issue of outsiders at the lake, Giese noted that while he suspected that many people at the lake on February 3 when he walked around the park were outsiders, a lot of Greenbelters were at somebody else's park on that pleasant day. He further noted that 52% of Greenbelt is rental apartments and much of the rest of the housing units are condominium or townhouses. On a nice day those residents want to get out of confined housing and enjoy the outdoors, he said.

Other Features

Jascourt thought the new playground equipment was too bright and stuck out.

Giese said the parking lot should be more attractive, perhaps with landscaped islands. He also said staff suggested relocating the amphitheatre out of the center of the open field.

And in the open field, Werner Neupert of Lakeside Drive suggested a loop trail rather than the paved road path suggested by the consultants. But Giese noted that it is the law that all public facilities be accessible by the disabled and that staff recommended paving the path.

Two new facilities were suggested for the park by citizens. Leslie Robinson suggested fencing off the peninsula to create a wildlife sanctuary. Ducks, geese and swans could then nest in peace. Bram asked if it was possible to have such a nesting area so near to where human beings were. Consultant Cleve Stover said he would ask Greenhorne & O'Mara's experts on wildlife.

Kindergarten/Nursery School Open House

The Greenbelt Nursery School & Kindergarten, Inc. will host two kindergarten open houses from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. on two upcoming Wednesdays, February 27 and March 20. Everyone is invited to sit in on a class and talk with Karen Keilman, the kindergarten teacher, and Janet Cantwell, the school's director.

The half-day, afternoon kindergarten program shares the same philosophy as the nursery school program: that children learn best through play. The curriculum follows guidelines set by the National Association for the Education of Young Children. Integrated curriculum areas and play are primary modes of instruction. A wide variety of activities is offered.

A full open house is scheduled for Saturday, March 23 from 10 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The Greenbelt Nursery School & Kindergarten, Inc. is a co-operative educational program for children from age two to six. This year it celebrates 50 years of service in Greenbelt. The school is accredited and licensed by the Maryland State Department of Education and the Department of Human Resources.

The school is located at 1 Hillside Road, behind the Community Church. For information, call the school at 474-5570 or Leslie McLaughlin at 474-4020.

Magnet Deadline Near

The Magnet School Office of the Prince Georges County Public Schools will accept applications for the general registration lottery until Friday, March 15.

Applications are available in all public schools.

Only one application per student will be accepted. All applications in the same family should be mailed in the same envelope as lottery numbers will be assigned by family.

The lottery will be held April 2. Students selected will be notified by mail.

Jay Conway, of Lakeside Dr., suggested making an island in the middle of the lake. The lake can be deepened and an island made out of the dredged material. It could be a memorial to four presidents, including Abraham Lincoln and Ronald Reagan, he said.

ERHS Students, Staff Enjoy Japan

by Robert T. Levine

"It's a great place," said Eleanor Roosevelt High School sophomore Ayanna Dunn, speaking of her trip to Japan from November 1-15. Traveling with Ayanna were seniors David Ball and Eileen Coyle, Roosevelt principal Dr. Gerald Boorman, and Roosevelt social studies teacher Anne Cherry.

These students applied to go on the trip with a written request. Then the applicants wrote an essay on the purpose of the trip. The applicants were interviewed. Finally, their grade point averages were considered.

The visitors arrived first in Tokyo, where they stayed in a youth hostel. Then they moved on to Yokohama. There, the students lived with the families of students attending Eleanor Roosevelt's "sister school" Suiran, where the Roosevelt students attended classes for one week, and even taught English classes. Lastly, the visitors went to Kyoto, where they lived in a youth hostel and visited another high school but did not attend classes.

Anyone spending two weeks thousands of miles from home is bound to be homesick for something. For Ayanna, it was private transportation. "I missed riding in cars," she said. "In Japan, everybody takes the subway or a train. The trains are really crowded."

Whatever complaints Ayanna had about Japanese trains, she had none about Japanese food. Among the dishes she ate were tofu; red rice, a dish served on festive occasions; and sushi, "which is actually good, I thought," said Ayanna. "I had a really great time. If anybody wants to go, do it."

The visitors enjoyed the trip immensely. Dr. Boorman said, "I think the trip was an eye-awakening experience and an opportunity to see how East and West meet."

Cherry found the trip "not only fun, but very educational," even though she had lived in Japan for three years working as a teacher in an international school.

Suiran will send a delegation of students and educators to Roosevelt next year.

Channel B-10 Schedule

The Channel B-10 schedule for the remainder of February is as follows:

Lions Club Breakfast Raises Funds for Needy

At the January 14 dinner meeting, the Greenbelt Lions Club presented a check for $1100 to the Rev. Dallas Pulliam and the Rev. Dan Hamlin of the Greenbelt Clergy Association. The money represented the net proceeds of the Community Pancake Breakfast held December 1.

The Greenbelt American Legion Post #136, led by Commander Sam Hoffberg helped with the kitchen supplies necessary to serve the large crowd. The post also contributed $300 towards the food served. The 625th Military Intelligence Battalion of the Maryland National Guard, through Captain Kevin Jenkins, provided field kitchens, cooks, and serving personnel. The Greenbelt High's store gave a discount on foodstuffs. The Greenbelt Clergy Association provided the people who waited on tables at the breakfast. Special thanks go to the people at St. Hugh's, who did a tremendous job of decorating the hall.

The club thanks the citizens of the community, who turned out (over 800 strong) to support its efforts to help the less fortunate.

Ruth Marion Link Wigley, Woodland Way, died on February 15 after a brief illness.

A native of Mahanoy City, Pa., she earned a degree at Bryn Mawr College. She came to Greenbelt in 1951 and worked for the federal government.

After 33 years of service she retired as a nurse supervisor.

Mrs. Wigley was a member of Greenbelt Community Church. She played in the senior softball league, walked about four miles a day usually with her dog "Boomer", a West Highland Terrier.

She is survived by a son, David and his wife, Johanna of California, 3 grandchildren, and a brother, Charles Link, Jr.

Services were held Monday at Greenbelt Community Church. Interment was at Ft. Lincoln Cemetery.

Catherine Madden

Greenbelt pioneer Catherine W. Madden, 78, who moved to the community when Greenbelt was established in 1937, died of complications of pneumonia February 16 at Doctors Hospital in Lanham.

Born in Kinderhook, N.Y., she moved to the Washington area in 1937. Prior to her marriage, she worked in the White House mail room until 1937.

An active member of the Ladies of Charity at St. Hugh's Catholic Church, she was an organist in the early years.

Her husband, Anthony M. Madden, died in 1987.

Survivors include six children, Mary M. Doman of Dallas, Kathleen J. Dunleavy of Ridge-wood, N.J., Therese M. Stringfellow and Patricia A. Molden, both of Greenbelt, Del. Martin G. Madden (R-Howard and Prince Georges Counties) of Clarksville and Michael G. Madden of Hyattsville; 15 grandchildren; and a great-grandchild.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Hugh's on February 19 with interment at Gate of Heaven Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to St. Anne's Infant and Maternity Home, 4901 Eastern Avenue, Hyattsville.

collect its recyclable bottles and cans in one container. This type of collection is called commingled. The residents will also bag or bundle their newspapers separately. The residents can take their recycling bins to one of five collection areas in the parking lots of the complex as needed. Each of the collection areas will consist of five 90-gallon containers; three for newspapers and two for the other commingled recyclables. The recyclables are collected from these five sites on Tuesday mornings.

"The members of the Lakeside North recycling committee were the people who got the ball rolling. They pursued all the leads. They basically did all the groundwork," Queen said. "They definitely played a strong role in this."

Once Southern Management received Lakeside North's proposal, it pursued other contractors for additional collection bids. Prince Georges Trash Removal Company, Inc. was selected to collect the recyclables. They were also given the garbage collection contract, which will make the venture profitable, said Heinz Weverink, vice president of Prince Georges Trash Removal. The company also operates the City of Greenbelt Recycling Center. Additionally, Prince Georges Trash Removal assisted Southern Management in preparing the recycling plan forms for the county. "We'll definitely urge the other communities we manage to set up recycling committees. With their assistance, meeting the county recycling requirements will be easy," Queen said.

For additional information on apartment recycling and other county programs, contact the Prince Georges County Office of Recycling at (301) 925-5963.

Recycling Do's and Don'ts

by Molly Golubcow

Like Mom's apple pie or hot dogs at a baseball game, recycling waste is becoming part of the American way. Whether on a national level or locally in Greenbelt, what to do with the apple peelings for those pies or the plastic wrapper from the hot dogs needs to be addressed in an ecological manner. Because of the decreasing availability of landfill space and the increase of garbage, it is very important to plan and successfully implement recycling procedures.

The City of Greenbelt is one of the many cities across the country that has begun to pitch in towards a cleaner environment. Located adjacent to the "Buddy" Attick Lake Park, Greenbelt's expanded recycling center has been in operation since October 1990 accepting office paper, plastic, cans, glass, newspaper and phone books, adding up to 93 tons to date. Greenbelt has been recycling newspapers (curb side pick-up) since 1971 and has had drop off bins for glass and aluminum for the past five years.

According to Dave Helmecki, Greenbelt Recycling Coordinator, the Center is "... a great success. There is always a constant stream of traffic and sometimes even a wait for people to drop off recyclable materials."

Although some people may think recycling is difficult, there are a few easy guidelines to follow in order to separate and dispose of the materials properly. The Greenbelt Recycling Center asks that residents follow the guidelines and be sure to deposit the materials IN (and NOT around) the proper containers at the Center. The following materials can be brought to the Greenbelt Recycling Center: Aluminum/Tin Cans; Glass (Green/Clear/Brown); Plastic Bottles (Green, Clear, Milk); Paper (Cardboard/Brown Bags/Mixed Paper/Newspapers); and Waste Oil.

Recycled materials can be easily and quickly prepared for recycling. Cans should be rinsed out. Caps should be removed from glass containers. Paper, cardboard and newspapers should be kept dry. Plastic containers should be rinsed out. To see if a plastic container can be recycled check the bottom of the container. A number one or two inside a triangle symbol means it can. Crank case waste oil can also be recycled.

For Greenbelt residents who wish to recycle large aluminum materials (such as lawn chairs) and copper or brass fixtures and pipes, the Prince Georges Scrap Company (474-3444) can be contacted about purchasing such items. Certain metals, landfill, compost (food scraps/yard-waste), and wood (brush/lumber) items need to be taken to a landfill. For more information concerning the disposal of these materials, residents can call the Greenbelt Department of Public Works at 474-8004.

Although it may take a few moments to think and separate waste materials, recycling contributes to a sound and safe environment.

Residents needing more information can contact the Department of Public Works for a pamphlet that outlines the ins and out of all recycling materials.

CITY TO MEET CHALLENGE

get for a special drug enforcement group are on hold. Giese said he did approve hiring three new officers, but they replace departing officers. Giese is pleased to find the cost of the police pension, added last year, will be a lot less than anticipated. Also, health benefits cost increases, for all employees, will be less than expected.

Capital Equipment

Some equipment had already been purchased before the city knew the extent of its financial problem. Major equipment is generally purchased from reserves collected over a period of years. Some adjustments have been made in what to purchase and some minor equipment, normally paid for with operating funds, will be bought through the Replacement Fund. Contributions to that fund and the Capital Improvements set aside will be cut by 10 percent.

Increases in fuel expenditures are not readily seen, Giese said, because the city accounts for all vehicle expenses in one category. At this time, he added, that figure is lower than it was last year. He explained that the new policy of providing take-home cars for police officers has noticeably reduced repair costs. For example, overtime in the mechanic's shop in the Public Works Building has dropped from the prior year.

With all the talk about no salary increases, no colas and possible layoffs in other governments in this area, said Giese, "Our employees are acting prudently."

Refuse Collection

The budget anticipated a drop in the cost of refuse collection at the time the county would take over the curbside collection of newspapers. The October date for that change has now slid to April. Giese noted several things that have counterbalanced the unexpected extra cost: the Public Works Department is operating one man short; the tonnage collected is down (lowering the tipping fees paid at the county landfill); and Green Spring has signed on for city refuse collection, bringing in new revenues. The lower tonnage, Giese said, is due to the greatly increased volume of recycling at the city's drop-off center.

While the city expects to collect a rebate from the county for its recycling program, it hasn't happened yet, Giese said.

Because the city still holds the deed to the North End School property, there are still some costs to the city. Some projects, such as restoring the old casement windows at the Greenbelt Museum, could get postponed. But many, according to Giese, are already on line.

Next Year

The city's best estimate of next year's short-fall is about eight percent, but Giese thinks that figure could climb. Staff plans to present some alternatives, including cutting services, to the council at a work session on March 13.

Department heads have been asked to trim 10 percent from their budgets through belt-tightening. The Police Department, according to Assistant City Manager Michael McLaughlin, is close to the target. But for some of the others, he noted, the task is difficult. Many costs are fixed: personnel, in-insurance, building maintenance and utilities. "We're not filling vacancies," he said, "and we're trying to redistribute the workload."

Giese expressed concern about whether there will be funds to renovate the old swimming pool bathhouse into an exercise spa, an important adjunct to the new indoor pool. It is also important, he noted, to improve the appearance of the old bathhouse. Also of concern is how well the new pool will attract paying customers. Presently, staff hopes these customers will contribute 60 percent of the operating expenses.

Some increased expenditures to operate Schrom Hills Park may be reduced or postponed since the ball fields there cannot be used the first year.

Some savings will come from scaling back the Recreation Department's newsletter and combining it with the city's newsletter. Also, the city will utilize its desk-top publishing capabilities to do more of the work in house.

A big unknown is whether the State and County governments will maintain the current level of revenues to the city. Both are

Council Tidbits

At its February 11 regular meeting, the Greenbelt City Council:

—Reappointed Lawrence Hilliard and Alfred Mecum to the Community Relations Advisory Board, Lester Whitmer and Dea Zugby to the Crime Prevention Committee, Jerry Conway and Tony Pisano to the Senior Citizens Advisory Committee, and Valerie Watson and Kathleen White to the Arts Advisory Committee.

—Agreed to notify the city's state legislative delegation of council's concerns about the tax changes proposed in the Linowes Report. Among other changes, the report proposes discontinuing the personal property tax levied upon businesses, which currently provides approximately 10 percent of city revenues. The commission did not estimate the net effect of its proposals on municipalities but stated that if "a few particular municipalities face revenue losses . . . their counties now have the additional fiscal resources to offset these losses." Besides doubting that the county would provide assistance, council wanted to avoid having to beg the county for funds because of state tax changes.

—Agreed to support the National League of Cities efforts to get Congress to enact legislation to increase competition in the cable industry, including competitive franchise renewal processes; instituting interim rate regulation, increasing consumer protections and providing immunity from damage suits to local governments regulating and administering cable franchises.

Three generations of dentistry in Greenbelt

Police Blotter

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

As a result of an investigation by several area police jurisdictions, a Greenbelt Police Investigator obtained an arrest warrant for a nonresident in connection with the hoax bomb robbery of Safeway Food Store in the Greenway Shopping Center on January 7. The man is currently in custody in Anne Arundel County on a robbery charge.

Robberies

A pizza delivery person, returning to his car, in the 7800 block of Hanover Pkwy. around 9:23 p.m. on Feb. 8 was robbed of cash and his wristwatch. The thief, who fled, is described as male, black, 150 lbs., 6'0", 17-23 years old, slim build, wearing a black L.A. Raiders waist-length jacket and L.A. Raiders cap.

As a resident was walking through the parking lot in the 7800 block of Hanover Pkwy. around 11:55 p.m. on Feb. 9, two men approached her, struck her in the head and chest, grabbed her purse, and fled. They are described thus: (1) black, 6'0", 18-20 years old, wearing a blue hooded sweatshirt; (2) black, 6'1", 18-20 years old, wearing a white jacket with blue horizontal stripes. The men drove off in what may have been a white Ford.

On Feb. 11 a citizen reported that while she was at Bud's Discount Drugs (Beltway Plaza), she had left her purse unattended and it had been stolen.

On Feb. 14 a wallet was stolen from an unattended purse in a desk in an office suite in the 7400 block of Greenway Center Dr.

Drugs

Around 9 p.m. on Feb. 8, a 27-year-old nonresident male was arrested in the parking lot of Beltway Plaza on two counts of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (cocaine and marijuana) and for possession of drug paraphernalia.

A 17-year-old juvenile was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia in the 6900 block of Greenbelt Rd. on Feb. 9.

Breaking and Entering

On Feb. 8 a breaking and entering was reported in the 6900 block of Hanover Pkwy. There were no signs of forced entry. A computer game system was stolen.

On Feb. 9 an office suite in the 7500 block of Hanover Pkwy. was broken into. Entry was gained through an unlocked window. No property was stolen.

On Feb. 12 a breaking and entering was attempted in the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy. Entry had been attempted by prying at the front door.

Auto Theft

As a resident was approaching his car in the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy. around 3:38 p.m. on Feb. 11, two men came up behind him, stuck what the resident believed to be a gun in his back, and robbed him of his car, a gray 1989 Nissan Sentra, MD tags WLG 505.

On Feb. 8 a 33-year-old nonresident male was arrested for auto theft and for driving while his license was revoked. The arrest resulted from a traffic stop in the 6000 block of Breezewood Dr.

Around 8:16 p.m. on Feb. 8, a citizen reported the theft of his 1988 Acura Integra from the parking lot of Greenway Shopping Center, where he had left his car unattended and running. Minutes later, the responding officers found the car a short distance away and arrested the driver, a 23-year-old nonresident male.

On Feb. 9 a black 1984 Jaguar with Delaware tags was stolen from the 6300 block of Ivy Lane.

On Feb. 11 a gray 1990 Honda, MD tags YDZ 099, was stolen from the 5800 block of Cherrywood Terr. and a white 1987 Volkswagon, MD tags XBN 587, was stolen from the parking lot of the 6100 block of Breezewood Court.

Apartment Searched - Residents Arrested

On February 12, Greenbelt police officers executing a search and seizure warrant at 9122 Edmonston Court, Apt. 102, found phenylcyclidine (PCP), marijuana, packaging material and a loaded .357 Magnum handgun. According to a release prepared by Cpl. David A. Buerger, police arrested two residents, 22-year-old Derek Jay Gross and 20-year-old Susan Kristine Blomquist, charging them with possession with intent to distribute PCP, possession of PCP, possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia and theft (the handgun had been stolen). Both appeared before a District Court Commissioner and were held on $5,000 bond pending trial.

THREE NEW POLICEMEN JOIN CITY DEPARTMENT

Chief James R. Craze announced that three officers formerly with the U.S. Capital Police Department have joined Greenbelt's police department. Officers Arnold B. Cave, Gerald Potts, and Mark Sagan recently completed comparative compliance training and are now assigned to the Patrol Division, where they are receiving field training.

Mom Gets Morning Out

Registration for Mom's Morning Out mini-session begins Feb. 25 at 10 a.m. at the Greenbelt Youth Center Business Office. The mini-session runs from March 12 thru March 29 on either Tuesday / Thursday or Wednesday / Friday from 9 a.m.-noon. For more information, call 474-6878.

Center School Students Are Honored For Citizenship and Scholarship

by Barbara Likowski

Secondary students from Greenbelt Center School were honored for citizenship and for placing on the school's honor roll at the second of two Honor Roll Assemblies on February 6.

Speaking to the older children was Joe McNeal from the Greenbelt Recreation Department. McNeal told the children they needed a good foundation and urged them to continue their good work. He also spoke of the city's help with school projects.

Dr. John O'Connell, talking about cultural literacy, asked the older children to finish famous quotations.

O'Connell, Principal Dr. John Van Schoonhoven and Vice Principal Carolyn Geff presented honor roll awards to:

JOE'S TIPS OF THE WEEK

Hello Again!

With all the moving components in our automobiles today the most overlooked components are the bearings! A bearing is a component that allows a part to turn or spin without a lot of resistance to perform a function. For example, an axle bearing supports the front or the rear axle. It allows the axle to turn or spin so the wheel will turn. Incorporated in some bearings are self contained lubricants. This takes the maintenance factor out of the bearing. When they go bad just remove and discard. On the other hand, non-lubricated bearings do require a preventive maintenance schedule for proper and safe operation. This is common to many of the bearings used on today's automobile and truck applications. There are many styles that perform different functions. There is a roller ball type and then there is a taper roller and a spherical roller. The problem is that you don't know that the bearing is going bad until it starts to make noise. Then it's too late most of the time. Most bearings will last well into the life of the vehicle if you take care of them with a proper preventive maintenance schedule. The maintenance service procedure is a simple one. Remove the bearing, wash it out, and perform a visual inspection. Then repack it with fresh and clean grease, reinstall it, and replace the seal. The seal is a device that protects the bearing from dirt and keeps the grease in the bearing. When servicing the bearings always replace the seals.
